

...on Open-Book Management.

We didn't start out in the consulting business. Demand came from organizations across the globe... companies seeking experienced help in implementing and energizing their Game. After all, we wrote the book. Our goal is to make sure you have all the tools, information and understanding necessary to play The Game. And to provide you with the support and extra attention you deserve, our practitioner Coaches have the experience and savvy to give you the hands-on approach you're looking for, and help you achieve your objectives as quickly as possible.

We have worked with a vast array of companies, implementing The Game in businesses large and small, public and private, union and non-union, manufacturing, service, distribution and non-profit. We can provide customized assistance on a basis that suits your situation the best. Read on about the array of Coaching Services offered by The Great Game of Business.

YOUR STEPS TO SUCCESS

1 READ THE BOOK

2 ATTEND THE SEMINAR

3 TALK WITH A COACH

4 JOIN THE COMMUNITY

BEGIN TODAY...FOR FREE!

FREE 30-MINUTE COACHING

Take advantage of a free 30-minute coaching consultation with a Great Game Coach. While there are many ways to implement open-book management, our Coaches have established the fastest, most effective method of launching the program. During this phone consultation, your Coach will answer any questions you have about The Game, open-book management, financial literacy, training workshops, and more.

THEN CONTINUE YOUR JOURNEY...

IMPLEMENTING THE GAME- GETTING STARTED

Our experience has taught us that the best way to learn is to step in and start playing. In "Getting Started", we help you set up your first game and you begin to compete. This is why we recommend starting with an involved process of defining what winning means in your organization by first identifying the business's current critical number and then rally your organization around this number. The subsequent support mechanisms such as the huddling process, incentive plans and scoreboards are incorporated to further engage the workforce towards the Critical Number. An almost "informal" learning process occurs.

MINI-GAME COACHING

Mini-games are a critical component of The Great Game motivation strategy. They help keep interest and involvement high throughout the year by giving players many opportunities to win and to celebrate. Our coaches will support you and your team through the process of designing and playing a successful mini-game. Learning to design and play effective mini-games targeting day-to-day improvements will add up to year-long success.

BUSINESS & FINANCIAL LITERACY TRAINING

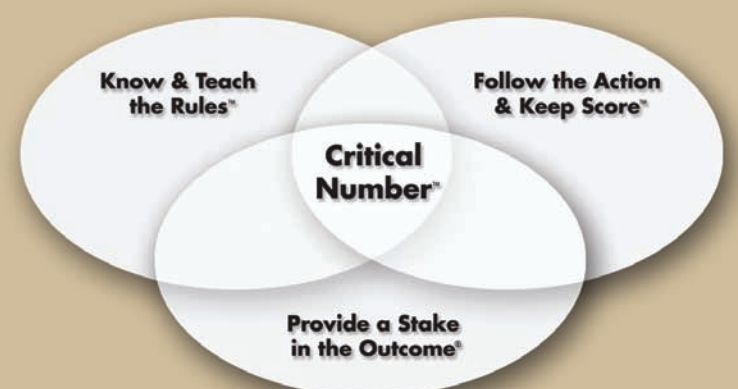

If the objective is to create a "business of business people" it follows that employees must have a fundamental understanding of business and finance. Just as with any game, the game of business is governed by rules that establish the object of the game, rules that guide game play and rules for keeping score. In order to ensure success in an Open-book environment, everyone on the team must know the rules. We provide first-rate financial education programs & business simulations that provide the fundamentals of business and financial literacy while teaching employees how they can impact the bottom line.

ON-GOING SUPPORT

Maximize the effectiveness and ensure the on-going success of your Great Game with our Coaching Annual Support Packages. We can help you get started or keep you going with a variety of coaching support services. Unlimited email & phone support throughout the year, regular status discussion to review progress and keep you and your team on track and identify opportunities to improve results.

JOIN THE COMMUNITY

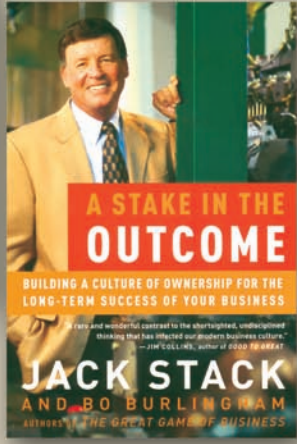

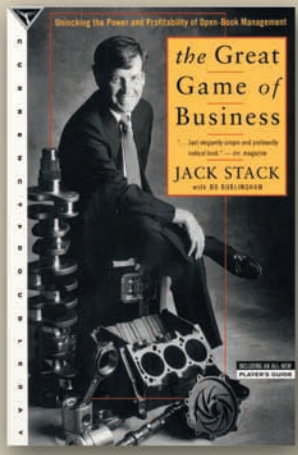

Open-book management has grown from a mere curiosity to a significant and profitable business practice and you will now find a growing number of businesses that are practicing OBM. Want to be a part of it? The Great Game of Business has created the Open-Book Forum – the only peer-to-peer learning network available for business leaders committed to operating their organizations "Open-book". In addition, The Annual Gathering of Games conference offers you the opportunity for peer-to-peer networking with OBM leaders from around the world. Best practice workshops and panels led by OBM leaders create unique learning experiences for everyone in your organization.

EVERYBODY PLAYS.
EVERYBODY LEARNS.
EVERYBODY WINS.

Our team is passionate about helping companies create a business smart, high-involvement, ownership culture that generates growth and success for both the organization and its people.

Start today by visiting www.greatgame.com or by calling 1-800-386-2752.

ABOUT THE BOOKS

Jack Stack and SRC Holdings Corporation accomplished this success by creating and implementing The Great Game of Business within the company. But how does The Game work?

The Great Game of Business gets employees to think and act like owners by using “game play concepts” and applying those to business. In addition to a management philosophy, The Great Game of Business is also a best selling book and a professional services organization. As a subsidiary of SRC, The Great Game of Business was developed to teach other businesses the fundamentals behind open-book management and The Great Game of Business. The Great Game has helped teach thousands of businesses how to utilize these methods in their organizations.

Are you interested in implementing The Game in your company? Have you already started to play The Game but need some added inspiration? Here's your chance to learn from the pioneers of Open-Book Management firsthand. Read on to learn more.

ABOUT OUR SERVICES

- OBM Implementation
- Open-Book Forums
- Mini-Game Design
- Business Literacy Training
- Incentive Plan Design
- High-Involvement Planning™
- Ongoing Support

Call 1-800-386-2752 or visit www.greatgame.com for more information.

The Great Game of Business
3055 E. Division
Springfield, MO 65802-2410

www.greatgame.com

We wrote the book...